Aimee Bobruk

"A work to be savored from beginning to end...ethereal, folk-savvy vocal styling... breathtaking soundscape with a glimmer of hope,—is nothing short of a work of art."

--Performing Songwriter

"Hauntingly Beautiful"

--Brad Houser, The New Bohemians

Aimee Bobruk's debut, The Safety Match Journal is rich in orchestral melodies and crisp lyrical images. While the album boasts performances from several of Austin's more notable musicians, it is Darwin Smith's distinctive production that sets this album apart from other singer songwriters. Non-traditional instrumentation, ambient textures and hints of sonic distortion offset Bobruk's allusions to traditional genres. The Safety Match Journal, as the title suggests, is a collection of ideas and musings that deal with topics of emotional frustration, cultural observations and spiritual resolution. Coupled with Bobruk's use of literary touchstones as poignant metaphors, The Safety Match Journal encompasses a depth beyond Bobruk's twenty-six years. But at the heart of this record is a voice that is confidently sensuous and at other times authoritative and powerful. The collection stands as a compositional mosaic that establishes Bobruk as one of Austin's true indie-pop gems.
